Both of Them Were White and One Seemed to Be Carrying Something Under His Coat.

Charles Smith, a coachman employe by Shepard Knapp, of 32 West Fiftyixth street, who, on the day of the murder of Ferdinand Harris told the poe of having seen two men come from the Borden residence immediately after the shooting, said to-day:

'As I was going along the south side of the street, towards Fifth avenue, I neard a noise in the Borden residence. sounded like breaking glass, and I paid no particular attention to it. I am ure that for ten minutes before I heard the noise no one had entered the Borden residence. A few moments after l heard the noise I saw a tall man in dark clothes come out of Mr. Borden's house. He was followed in a moment by a short, stout, very bow-legged man

Both men hurried towards Fifth avenue, and when they reached there the turned and ran north on the avenue. Both the men were white and the last man to come from the house held the pocket of his coat as if he were afraid of dropping something from his pocket."
